Many people ask us here at JO's Cleaning & Organizing, if it is really possible to gain 40% more space from an existing closet or storage area? We are always quick to respond by saying, "Yes it is possible, and maybe more". Depending on the closet or storage area, the proper designed layout and the products used to reorganize that closet, doubling the amount of storage space is possible.

One of the best examples of almost doubling the amount of storage space in an existing closet, is with the basic "Reach-in" closets that are the norm in most of our homes. These small bedroom closets end up being where we try and cram as much cloths and stuff as possible. Almost doubling the storage size of these closets is a great first step in acquiring more space in our entire homes, while still having access to our stored clothes and stuff.

Here is a recent “Reach-in” bedroom closet that we have redone. This extra bedroom was being converted to a home office/work area. The closet is now being used for office and work material storage that needs to be accessed easily, on a regular basis. By using the right shelving and storage containers, we were able to increase the amount of storage space by over 40%, while still keeping everything viewable and accessible.

Now imagine this being done to every closet in your home and just see how much extra storage space you will acquire and just how much additional space you will get through out your entire home, by getting more items stored properly away in your new storage areas. We have seen this work over and over again. We have watched many people get more literal living space in their homes, by properly storing their clothes and materials into accessible storage areas and closets. This REALLY WORK!
